

BLACK UNICORN

A FORCE TO BE RECKONED WITH Determination, Ruthlessness, Bounty

A magnificent unicorn emerges from the night bringing rich abundance. Crimson flowers and hints of autumn foliage surround him. Gold- and lavender-adorned doves greet him with delight. Black Unicorn sparkles and glows as the magic of his being brings everything around him to life. He is a bringer of healing, change, bountiful rewards, and joyous celebration after a period of great work.

You may think Black Unicorn was born into prosperity. This is far from the truth. He is an intelligent and unique creature, unlike any other, and at times he has been ruthless and unrelenting. He represents fearlessness, dedication, and a willingness to bring destruction where needed. Black Unicorn creates gateways into higher consciousness and moves through dimensions at will. He is a force to reckon with.

Drawing Black Unicorn means you may be reaching a limit in your life. You may be experiencing chaos, exhaustion, or feel burdened by life. Perhaps you fear you could fall further into the abyss? This mighty being has come to your aid. However, his healing power may not be so gentle. He is here to support you so you can engage your tenacity and transform your life. You are close, but there is more work to be done. Stay the course. This is no time to give up.

Look closely at where you are attempting to create change. Reaching for something new using old tactics may be the cause of your frustration.

You have the power to be whoever you wish to be and the right to create great abundance in your life. Engage ruthlessness to reach your goals while also maintaining your connections with others. Consider how you can help, heal, and invite others on your journey by the example you set. Your drive is fueled by your ability to then express generosity. When you reach your bounty, share freely! Gather your fortitude and leap ahead. Fear not; the magic of Black Unicorn is here to help you.

BLUE-EYED UNICORN
HONOR YOUR UNIQUE QUALITIES
Magic, Mystery, Healing

Blue-Eyed Unicorn steps from a dense forest into a meadow where the moonlight shines upon its mane in shimmers of silver and white light. A kind being that would never mean any harm to another, she has a magical quality not found among the four-legged creatures that roam the earth. She may have had origins on this earth, but she is of another realm and has a special message and purpose for all who meet her.

Blue-Eyed Unicorn wants you to know that you are also a mystical being with magical powers. You have a way of moving around and understanding those around you that is not common. Your purity and inquisitive nature can be alluring for others, yet you know you are not designed for the masses. Many may find you eccentric. That is not a criticism but an honor. You are an example for others. Your unusual approach to the world is a gift for all those bestowed with your presence.

Look closely at your distinctive gifts and the traits that are very natural for you and more foreign to others. Do not worry that you are not of the same cloth as those around you. Your qualities reflect your purpose so learn to respect them. Be wary of those who may wish to capture, own, or change you. Stand your ground to protect your uniqueness. Sometimes your presence alone will bring magic, clarity, and healing to others without effort.

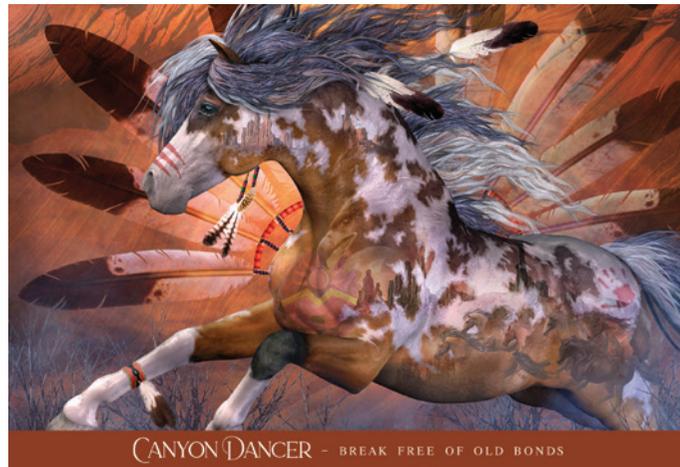

You have called forward the healing powers of this great unicorn as a mirror to the hidden qualities within yourself that wish to be revealed and honored. This may be a long-forgotten part of you, or something you wish did not exist. Living with unicorn energy requires patience and strength. You will never fit in with average ways of being. You are safe to be unique and stand out, and it is your path to set an example in doing so.

You are an eternal being. You do not need to worry about the future or the past. Instead, remain soft, gentle, open, and strong. When others need your healing presence, they will appear. You are endlessly kind and generous by nature, and you will know when to offer healing energy.

Remember to seek refuge in solitary places so that you may regenerate your spirit. Make time to wander through landscapes to cleanse your heart and renew your sense of connection. Honor yourself on all levels and do not seek to be like others. The effort of being anyone other than you may cause you pain and suffering. Your light is your gift. Strive to keep it bright and share it with others who recognize your offering.

If you came to this card inquiring about a situation or opportunity, investigate it thoroughly and be sure you feel confident stepping forward. It may bring you deep into the forest, where you will meet great change and rejuvenation.
