

1. LOVE-BASED REALITY

I am soul-nurtured whenever I surround myself with friends and family who support a love-based reality, rather than a fear-based reality. I choose to devote myself to a reality that connects me to beauty, strengthens love in my life, and inspires, empowers and fills me with joy.

Nurturing a love-based reality sustains me in my life and keeps me buoyant whenever I face fears or self-doubt. It strengthens my capacity to be present and to be of greater service to life on the planet.

I bow in deep appreciation to all the people who have supported me to be my best and believed in me. As I grow in love and compassion, I naturally reflect the light of these energies to all those around me.

Card Affirmation:

I am soul-nurtured when I surround myself with friends and family who support a love-based reality.

2. SELF-RENEWAL

I love to declutter my life, to cleanse and purify my home. I benefit from cleaning out my closets and drawers, and from letting go of things that no longer work for me. I find ways to create closure in relationships and end connections that no longer serve my highest good.

Decluttering is a sacred practice for me, a time to reboot and renew, a time to release old mindsets and outmoded beliefs. I value these periodic clean-ups and clean-outs—these are special times when I say goodbye to old identities and rebirth myself, making space for the new.

I allow my intuition to guide me in what to keep and what to let go. In this way, it becomes an effortless and enjoyable process.

Card Affirmation:

As I clean out old energies, I have more space for that which wants to be birthed into my life.

3. INNER WELLSPRING

Love lives through me. I have an inner wellspring of love—an outpouring, an infinite flow—that is always available to me.

I honour the deep, flowing river of energy within me—the ever-manifesting feminine essence of life, which flows through all things. This is the source of my health, my happiness and the meaning in my life. When I connect to my inner wellspring, I feel alive, I glow, I feel desirable—the juices of my creativity flow. From this place, I not only inspire others, I also nurture the infinite source of love within me.

Card Affirmation:

I have an inner wellspring of love that luxuriously overflows with abundance.

4. MY CREATIVE POWER

My female creativity and genius are endless resources that I'm only just beginning to tap into, explore and develop.

I am bursting with ideas and visions. I am a passion-storm of creativity, eager to live my dreams and transform my life and my world. I am stepping out and making my mark in undreamed-of ways—birthing from the creative fires of the unleashed feminine.

I am waking up to my gifts and talents, as well as to the contribution I can—and will—make to the future of my world. It's time to express my creative potential and power.

Card Affirmation:

As I invest in my own creative potential, I experience my female creative genius.